THE COMMUNITY

Framed by the Cascade Mountains, Leavenworth, Washington is located in the upper reaches of the Wenatchee River Valley in Chelan County on the east side of the Cascade Mountains. The City is perfectly situated on the confluence of the Wenatchee and Icicle Rivers. The popular Bavarian mountain village theme is not only attractive to the approximately two million tourists who visit Leavenworth each year but is also found in the lifestyle chosen by its residents who embrace their adopted theme in the many festivals and community activities.

As you wander past the Bavarian architecture, you are enjoying the fruits of a well laid plan. Leavenworth is the inspiring story of a town that reinvented itself. With the loss of its railway and timber industries, Leavenworth was a town in slow decline. In the early 1960s, it took the brave and determined decision to invest in tourism for its future. Inspired by the resemblance of the surrounding countryside to Bavarian Germany, with its mountain wilderness and rolling meadows, Leavenworth was remodeled as a Bavarian alpine village. Such was the town's commitment to the project that the Bavarian theme was carefully researched, architects were hired, building codes were changed and townspeople took to learning about the German culture.

Leavenworth has four distinct seasons, each as beautiful as the other, bringing new surprises each year. Community festivals abound, with each season inviting residents and tourists alike to partake in experiencing this wonderful city. Leavenworth is known for its dry mountain climate. With over 300 days of sun each year, the area is protected by the rain shadow of the Cascade Mountains, keeping it crisp and cool, with marvelous fall colors, romantic, snowy winters providing many outdoor activities and active, sunny summers. Leavenworth and the incredible surrounding area offer recreation activities for everyone, including hiking, rock climbing, fishing, boating, river rafting, downhill and cross-country skiing, mountain and road biking, and a municipal eighteen-hole golf course, to name just a few.

THE CITY

The City of Leavenworth operates under a strong Mayor/Council form of government. The Executive Department is led by Mayor Cheryl K. Farivar, who works closely and effectively with the City Administrator. The voters elect seven City Council members who work on a committee basis.
