Dave and Todd,

I spoke with Chris Moser, engineer at Leavenworth office of the Chelan County PUD.

There is 3-phase across the street, and he says, that at this time, there would be no problem getting the power there.

We could go two routes to get it there:

- 1) Pole with transformer
- 2) If we are going to cut & cover the sewer line (rather than bore), we could run it there.

The cost of the service hookup would be approximately $12,500.

The cost of the pole would be approximately $5,000.

We should count on $20k total to be on the safe side.

He declined to put this in writing since he said this could change. The only way we can get something in writing is if we fill out the application and pay the fees. Thoughts?
